

Thank You

Dear Aime,

I just want you to know this - I love you for who you are, exactly as you are. I love you for every effort you make to make me happy, even the small ones you don't always realise you're making. I love how comfortable and safe I feel with you, and the way you reassure me when my mind runs too much.

I love that you remember the little things I say. It makes me feel seen and valued. I love the flower you got me, and the warmth you bring with you whenever we're together - it stays with me even after you leave. I love that even after long, tiring days, you still choose to talk to me. I love how you help me prepare for my interviews and how you genuinely believe that I can achieve great things. Your encouragement gives me so much strength.

I love how you listen to me, and how you share your stories and perspectives with me. I love the raw, real you. I love you even on days we can't meet, even when I overthink, even when things aren't perfect.

I also want you to know this - I'll be more understanding of your schedule and your workload. I won't compel you to meet me whenever I want to. I want you to feel at ease, not pressured.

You deserve all the good things in this world - good health, kind people, and beautiful experiences. To me, you are the kindest and warmest soul. You're someone I trust, someone who loves consciously, someone my body feels calm and relaxed around.

I love your hugs, your kisses, and the comfort I feel in your presence. You're the cutest and calmest gift I got this year.

Please take good care of yourself. And always remember - I'm here. You can come to me whenever you want. I'll always try to understand you, and I'll always welcome you with a big hug.

Love you 3000 ❤️

With Love,
Your Bee 🐝

